Translation Pricing

Our document translation rates vary by language. All languages are priced by the word, and each project receives a customized estimate. One of the many benefits of using CLI to maintain your translated documents is that future updates will be faster, easier, and less expensive than the initial cost of translation. There is a minimum fee of $75 for Spanish and $100 for all other languages for each translation project. However, jobs may be grouped together to meet the minimum charge. Discounts are available both for volume and translation memory matches (repetitive text); these discounts are applied on a per-project basis and quoted upfront.

A full TEP (translation, editing, and proofreading) process is included in the per-word price, along with built-in project management and quality assurance time; additional formatting fees are charged by the hour and will be quoted upfront prior to translation. Basic typesetting services (MS Word, Excel, etc.) are included in the standard price as well.
